THE SUB-TREASURY BILL.

The following extract from the correspondence of the N. Y. Courier and Enquirer confirms the statement of our correspondent in our paner of Wodnesday. The Spy in Washington says:

I now repeat with entire confidence that a majority of the House of Representatives are spoord to it; but these are a few of the whigh party who take a most erroneous view of the question; or rather of the manner to which they I'm culiuary origin is evident. Lees and drip can best perform their duty to the country. While they will not support the measure, they that it will sink the administration and its. adherents, to the lowest depths of political degradation. Admit this to be true. A forced inaction now existing in every calling of industry except the cultivation of the land, and the comparative discouragement to that, together with the fashion which has sometimes prevailed of going West, suggested fears that with all the refurek advantages of Maine, it might be too lite practically to awake the citizens of this and other States to the facts of the

Let us in few words compare the natural advantages of Maine, with those of the West.

The most favored of the Western States have as States more of the best land, but the best located good lands are chiefly taken up. The best of the land in Maine remains to be taken up. In the West the average distance from the occan is about a thousand miles. In Mains which is better watered as a State in her interior, as well as that she is bounded by the ocean, with almost monnerable bays and barbors, - the average distance from the ocean is probably less than a hundred, and much of it within fifty miles.

In the West, wheat is worth 50 to 60 cents a bushel. On the new lands in Maine where it can be raised to equal advantage; it is, and will be worth 1,50 to $2.

In the West before it reaches our great markets it must pay a great aggregate of expense to steam and canal boats.

In Muine the advantages operate in an inverse lellow. ratio. Grain of all kinds, hay, potatoes, bear it was engaged in considering several Indian porting into the interior, added to these and these most retain this extra advantage as long as she is in any degree a lumber State for her lumbering constitutes a demandrand market for her Agricultural Produce. There is nothing but of the greatest principles of proval politics, is to indian cora in which Muine is at a disadvantage teach a before and economical, with other States and this is the least profitch a where it is raised of almost all produce; and can always be had to advantage in exchange for . While lands therefore are to be had in Maine much cheaper than in the West, well wooded often well timbered with grain, hay, potathat from the dear bought learns of experience of the West, who can for a moment hesitate as a settler in giving Maine the preference as his place of sculement and final abode?

Is it replied. We admit all this but there is The "bell" is in motion, it will roll on until our a great advantage in climate in the West. I rejoin it is not easy to decide which has the advantage in climate. In the West it averages warmer through the year but it is subject to more sudden, and greater changes and to the inhabitants of the Atlantic States, is less healthy, and it is to be remembered that the exsons of tolerable health is unimportant where there is plenty both of sustenance and fuel to drinker came into the ranks of the democracy temperature of Maine, especially when cold, is to use help. AN EASTERN TALE:

"Our National Treasury is at its lees: the rendered his society pleasing and interesting. last drippings are falling from it day by day: Early be endeared himself to Korille, the flower only seven hundred floorand dollars, according of the tribe to which he belonged. They soon to the statements of the seven was done became to sweetly united together to the dailed breleng, are left all that remaine of that gol- of affection, that they seemed unhappy if long den flood which, two years ago, was rushing spark. In defiance of his solemn engagements, to take his departure into a distant part of the country. Abcordurgly no entreated his father, and, after much iliportunity; obtained his permission to prosecute the journey.

> This news having reached the ears of Korilla, filled her with grief. It was more than slie could easily hear. She burst into a flood of lears, and with brusy cries deplored the criticity of her lover. In the dusk of the evening, she left her restless pillow, and proceeded across the encampment to the door of his tent. Her Boks were dishevelled, her girdle lonely bound, tears moistened her cheeks, and the moon beams played upan her bosom.

With municitiemidity obe thus addressed her lover: "O Kalmud! your conduct is exceedingly have and urue!! Alore intole and urue!! Alore intole able are the

He pursued his way with great rapidity over hills and plains, and nothing during the day, seemed to trouble him. But when the evening had stretched her sable curtains over him, he found himself in a howling-wilderness: far from any dwelling. At a sistance, he heard tha tr-ger's growt and the hon's roar. The firmoment over his head, as if indignant, hid her sparkling orbs in clouds, and thickened the gloom of night. Fear thrilled his heart, and the stings of conscience formented his bosom. He was sensible that he was violating the most solemn engagements, and decoly wounding the breast of in-

Long he wondered about with distressing so licitude for shelter, but found none. At length, despairing of a place of safety, and being extremely foligued, he enated himself on the ground, reclined he head against a rock, and after many bitter reflections, fell asleep.

But fancy, for ever on the wing, conveyed him upon a lotty clift. Before him, towards the east, he beheld a vast plain; sorrounded with ciaggy mountains, and replenished with an, in numerable number of human beings.

The plain was divided into two great nations. At the north, Fulschood, a dreadful goodless, presided. She was extremely frightful. Her front was brazen as impudence; her eye malignant as Euclier, and her snaky tongue, venomous as poison. The breath of her nestrils, like the gales of the Upas, infected the sir, withered vegetation and spread desolation throughout ber domains. Her throne was sprinkted with blood, and covered with polution her subjects were languishing under the baneful influence of her gevernment. But oh! how different the scene at the south!

There, the goodess of truth-reigned. She was mild and innocent. Her eyes beamed with aflection, and her cheeks glowed with beauty. She was seated on the throne of immutability, and waved the banner of happiness. Her subjects were supremely devoted to her, and felt happy in the enjoyment of her smiles. She filled their dwellings with pracy and ove, and their lead with virtue and felicity. She clothed the ground with verdure, and loaded the trees with fruit and flowers. -Cities and villages also arcse, and temples for religious worship, became nimerous. It was, indeed, a delightful landcape.-Nothing, except the sud-den appearance of Death, marred its felicity. > A TEXAN TAVERN: A tavern has recently been opened on rather a diminutive scale near Houston, Texas, contrasting in a most striking manner with the lextensive scale in which numt things are conducted in that Republic. 11 seems according to the Telegraph, that a gentleman riding along the road discovered an old soldier by the way side, sitting very contentedly under a blanket stretched horizontally across the tops of four apright stakes. A cancle box was before him answering the purpose of a table on which were placed a small jug, and the better part of a broken bottle. Not understanding the object of all these preparations he stopped to inquire of the soldier what he was doing "Keeping tavern, sir," was the ready answer, "will you take something to drink?"

GOOD NATURED FRIENDS. On the report of the marriage of a celebrated lady, who was suspected of having led a life not particularly moral, it was stated that she had confessed to her intended all her peccatillous. Three actresses were conversing on this subject, and the following remarks engued: Mrs. F. "Confessed all her peccadilloss!" What an instance of confihuge scepture, smote the base of the northern dence in his affection!" Mrs. W : "Aye, or rather what an instance of reliance upon her nstonishing Prof inchary.

> Talking of barking, two gentlemen the other day, at a public table, got into a violent dispute upon a subject on which it was quite evident that both were profoundly ignorant. A big bull dog, which had been quietly eleeping on the hearth, became round by their violence, and began barking furiously: An old gentleman who had been quietly sipping, his wine while the disputants were talking, gave the dog a kick and exclaimed, "Hold your tongue, you brute. You know no more about it than they do." The laugh of the white table was turned immediately upon the noisy leawlers.

One day last week, as a gentleman was passing along the High Street, he saw a school boy with a satchel on his back," Looking wintfully upon the delaracies in a pastry's cook's window. "What, my lad," said the gentleman, I suppose you are in the optetive mood. _"Yes eir, rejoined the youth, "and I hope you are in the datire case." The boy get a shilling for his quickness. for diseases of the Human Constitution, that has ever been discovered. These Pills are composed entirely of materials extracted from Medical Plants, and are warranted not to con....n one particle of mercury, or any mineral substance. Dr. Kingley, the inventor of this value able medicine, from his knowledge of the human system derived from a long and extensive practice, the functions of the liver, or in other words an in-creased or diminished secretion of the Bile.

So well is this understood, that it is common for persons to say when they feel unwell that they are bilious, meaning that they have too much bile in the stomach. On the other hand, when the flow of bile is diminished, the process of digestion is imperfectly performed, the patient becomes weak and emaciated cause www.ish.ment sentained in the food taken into the stomach is not properly extraoted, and the food is ejected in a crude state. Dr. Kingley is confisless that the famous Hygean Theory, so called, that "impurity of the blood is the cause of all diseases." 13 a great absurdity. Every one who reflects upon subject a moment, will perceive that impurity of the blood is a secondary, not a primary complimit the effect, and not the cause of the disease. When the functions of the liver are deranged, and the flow of bile increased, it is often taken up by the absorbent vessels and carried into the circulation, and becomes mingled with the blood as in Jauudice, when the patient shows it in his countenance. Now this impurity of the blood is gaused by an increased flow of the bile, and to remedy it you must correct the secretion of the liver and restore it to a healthy state Dr. Kingley has spent much time in experimentng with different vegetable medicines, for disenses of the liver, and new offers his Universet Pauly Pills as the best, most convenient and cheapest medicine that can be prepared for general use; and in offering them to the public, he is actuated more by benevolent than pecuniary mouses, as the price the medicine will show.

Dr. Kingley flatters himself that his long experi menting with vegetable medicines that enabled him to discover the true and only substitute answering all the purpose of mercurials, without any of their attendant evils. One great quality of his family Pills is, that they have the alterative principle comaned with their esthartic or operative quality, so that they not only cleanse the stomach and bowels purify the blood, invigorate the circulation, and give lone and energy to the nervous system.

They are mild and pleasant in their operation, and almost immediate conviction of their utility from the first dose. They can be taken with safety by per-sons of any age, sud the feeble, the infirm, the nervous, the delicate, are strengthened by their operation, because they clear the system of bad humors quiet nervous irritabilities and restlessness, from whatever source, and invariably produce sound the Family Pills are an invariable remedy for jaund.ce, sick and nervous bradache, dyspepsia, eastiveness, sickness of the stomach, hearthurn, all fulfous complaints, tevers of all kinds, and if taken at the commencement will invariably check their progress, and save the pattent from a protracted and dangerous sickness. They are invaluable in nervous and hypochendriacal affections, loss of appetite, and all complaints to which fricales alone are subject. They operate as a mild and speedy purge, and are a safe and certain remedy for worms in

I might publish a small volume of certificates but consider it unuecessary, as the medicine will recom-mend itself to all who will make trial of it-JOHN KINGLEY.

These Pills are put up in neat boxes of two stzes, the small sizecontains 25 Pills, and the retail price is 75 cents, the large size contains 60 Pills, the price is 50 cents.

Ur Palmen & Blake have been appo agents for the above pills for the New England States. Druggists and others can be supplied wholesale and retail, upon application to them at No 11 Hanover street, Bouton, or to J. E. LADD, Augusts, agent for the State of Maine.
